

Geographies (ISSN 2673-7086) is an international and cross-disciplinary open access journal of human and physical geography, rooted in natural environments and humans as well as the relations between the two. Geographies publishes critical reviews, regular research papers, communications, short notes, and editorial comments, and there is no restriction on the length of papers.

Areas of study range from the experimental, theoretical, and historical analysis of natural sciences, social sciences and humanities at different scales. It is global in outlook and integrative in approach.

For more information on the Geographies, please visit the journal website at <https://www.mdpi.com/journal/geographies>